

We fill a slow weeknight. You keep the bar.

XR Guild runs free demo nights for people curious about virtual and augmented reality. We bring the headsets, the crowd, and the volunteers. You keep every dollar over the bar. We are not asking for a fee — we are asking for the room.

What we ask you to pay

What we need from you

- Floor space for four to six demo tables, ideally away from the main walkway.
- Access to power — standard outlets are fine, we bring our own extension leads.
- Somewhere reasonably lit to stand and talk. Headsets work in the dark; people do not.
- A point of contact for the night.

What you get

- A full room on a night that is usually quiet, with a crowd that stays and drinks.
- Your venue named on the event page and every announcement, reaching our list directly.
- Volunteers who set up, run the floor, and clear everything at the end of the night.
- Insurance and equipment are ours. Nothing gets attached to your walls.

Happy to do a trial. Give us one night. If the room is not busier than a normal Wednesday, we will not ask again.
